

LAKEWOOD COLONY PLANS GIANT ICE CARNIVAL

New Moon Adds Charm to Skating and Sleighing--Holiday Week a Joyous One, With Sojourners More Numerous Than Ever

LAKWOOD, N. J., Jan. 3. DANCES this evening at the Laurel in the Pine and Laurel House were the final numbers on the holiday entertainment programme. This week was a joyous one for all here. Never before was there such a crowd of Christmas and New Year's sojourners here as this winter. If anything the crowd for New Year's was larger than that for Christmas.

A New Year's eve ball at the Laurel House and a New Year's day ball at the Laurel in the Pine were social features of the day, while a handball was held at the Country Club and a New Year's special trap shooting tournament at the Laurel House Gun Club.

Attracted by the winter sports many of those who came for the holidays plan to lengthen their sojourn for another fortnight. The good skating and sleighing are enjoyed by many.

A continuance of the cool weather has started plans for a big ice carnival for the middle of this month. The lakes have already been illuminated with powerful arc lamps and all that remains to be had is real winter weather for the coming two weeks.

The new moon has given impetus to the ice sports. Almost every night the lake is filled with skaters. The skating contingent includes Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lester, Miss Marjory Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Delancy M. Kountze, Miss Helen Mulford, Mr. and Mrs. David Taylor, Clifford Drake, Miss Ethel Drake, George C. Crouch, Miss Jefferson, Miss Fitzgerald and others.

During the week Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Frederick Westergren entertained at a large dinner party at the Laurel in the Pine in honor of Mrs. John H. Henshaw of New York and Mrs. William H. Sadler of Lakewood.

Coffee House on Lake Path.
A new feature was inaugurated this week when the Oak Knoll coffee house was opened. An attractive house with open fireplaces has been erected on the Lake Path, near Georgian Court. Here after a stroll about the lake one obtains coffee and other refreshments, while at evening it is the scene of many private dinner parties. The opening of the coffee house has given an impetus to "before breakfast walks," as the hardy sojourner who enjoys the early morning walk with his usual New Year's roll without returning to his hotel.

have been entertaining M. Dakneiloff, the Russian Ambassador, in their Forest avenue home.

This week was "home coming" week at Georgian Court. All the children of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould came here for the family New Year's dinner except Lord and Lady Decies, who are in England.

Lathrop Hall, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lathrop Pack, was the scene of a lively party over the holidays. Capt. Arthur N. Pack and his bride and Miss Beulah Pack were home for the holidays with their parents, who invited a number of friends down for New Year's. Guests included Mrs. Henry Hatch, Henry Hatch, Jr., Miss Millicent Horton, Club.

MACHINE PUNCHING "BLOCKS" OF INFORMATION FROM CARDS SENT IN BY THE ENUMERATOR

FEDERAL CENSUS STARTS SCOPE UNPRECEDENTED

Work Begins in Midwinter for First Time in History--Interrogations Amplified Beyond Anything Hitherto Undertaken--New York Still Without a Rival

THE fourteenth Federal census is under way. A variation in the time honored programme of the Government's decennial counting of noses and other things has been the commencement of the stupendous move. Palm Beach may get an excess population report as might also Miami, St. Augustine or Pass Christian; but Blumack, N. D., and Wichita, Kans., will report their normal population with far greater accuracy now than five months hence, and it is with the

and the rest of the world most materially. Another factor of potential interest will be the data disclosing the new ratios between negro and white population not only in the South but throughout the border States. This will be particularly interesting in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri and by no means a factor to be ignored in the figures of New York and New Jersey.

Under the agricultural schedule the Census Bureau expects to show a stupendous increase in the number of farms in the last decade. A difference of nearly if not quite a million is anticipated. Ten years ago there were in the United States 6,161,592 farms. Their value then was estimated to exceed $40,000,000,000.

This new agricultural schedule is designed to show in detail many of the problems of farm operation as worked out under modern conditions. In increases in the acreage of land under cultivation, yields of individual crops of cereals, staple vegetables and important fruits will be shown, and also there will be a census of cattle, draft animals, sheep, pigs and poultry. The money crop and the bee census are new features of this schedule. Also under this survey will be included a quite a new feature, the application of the combustion engine and the electric motor to farm problems. The tractors will be counted, and so also will be counted the number of farm owners of automobiles. Just how the housewife fares in the matter of modern conveniences will also be ascertained under this head for the industrial enumerator will ask Mrs. Farmer whether she has hot and cold running water, a bathtub, electric light, gas for illumination or cooking and whether she possesses a telephone.

The schedule dealing with the problem of manufacture will be exhaustive to an extent not heretofore undertaken. It will go to no less than 300,000 establishments whose proprietors, officers and employees may be expected to total considerably in excess of 10,000,000 persons. A general schedule dealing with the character, general extent of the industry and the capital invested will go to every one of the establishments, and also it will be accompanied by one of the special 132 supplementary schedules. The expected result of this phase of the nation wide inquiry will be the discovery of the measure of growth of the certain industries particularly fostered by the demands of the war, and the ability to supply during the world clash upon foreign importations, not only from the nations engaged in the strife, but from those neutrals whose productivity was upset by the distortion of the normal laws of supply and demand.

Commercial organizations, municipal, State and national, such as boards of trade and chambers of commerce, have cooperated with the Census Bureau in framing the programme of the census of manufacture. The United States has been arbitrarily divided into sixty-nine industrial zones, each with not less than 100,000 population, and representing a production of, in no instance less than $500,000,000. The groupings of cities have been effected along lines of their industrial affiliation and a veritable horde of special agents of the Department of Commerce.

Vast Mineral Oil Extension.
The census of the mining, oil, gas and quarrying industries is expected to open the eyes of the nation to the vast extension of these productions. In respect to mineral oil, the development will, without doubt, furnish the most stupendous ratio of expansion disclosed in any industry, thanks to the combustion engine and the automobile, his chief exponent.

The forestry and reforestation schedules are something wholly new in American census taking, treated as a separate schedule. Heretofore they have been included in the general agricultural schedules.

In the actual mechanical handling of the fourteenth census there will be a vast amount of technical improvement. The application of the punch card of enumeration and classification used with great success in 1910, will be on a broader scale than ever. Once punched to carry all the needed data, they will be run through automatic sorting and tabulating machines. Four hundred cards a minute will be the speed of their dissection and analysis by this means and the final results can be ascertained by this method in but a few minutes compared with the hand counting systems. The broader application of the mechanical apparatus to the actual tabulation of the census is expected to result in the production of the desired data in a few months after actual enumeration instead of the several years that previously have elapsed between enumeration and the completion of the census.

CHILDREN TO GIVE BENEFIT
EARLY in the new year the children of the Junior Art Society are to give a benefit performance at the Actors' Fund Home, State Island. Eighty children will participate in the principal roles and choruses. The performance will be given in a theatre to be donated by Daniel Frohman.

Mrs. J. Christopher Marks is the founder of this society and Herbert Meyers president. Mrs. James N. Hamilton is the secretary. The children are not in any way connected with the stage. They recently gave an interesting programme in the Rose Room of the Hotel Astor in which the leading numbers were a pageant by the whole society and a play, "In Star Book Land," with the following roles: Longtime Little Girl, by Herbert Meyers; Fairy Queen, by Jane Jones; and Mother Goose, by Mabel Kingsley. Little Miss Kingsley, who is 10, gave evidence of real dramatic talent and was warmly applauded for her delightful and amusing impersonation. Other children who participated in the play were Anna and Helena Sargent, Lucille Nudelmann, Mercedes May, Helen Cronin, Thelma Evans and Helen Waterbury.

A matinee dance is held at the Astor for the children of the society the first Saturday of each month.
